* The hotel in Yan Ta Khao (21-22 Oct) is a clean, pleasant and en-suite local establishment which does not take agent bookings. You will simply need to pay for this hotel in cash on the night; there is nothing you need to do prior to this. The price is approximately THB 500-1000 (~US$15-30).

If you are unable to book these hotels, please contact Mad Dogs prior to booking an alternative. This is not the end of the world as there are often several convenient options. You will however want to stay as close as possible to these places (metres, not kilometres away!) Links to online travel agents can be found in the Google Maps link. Excellent deals can be found on aggregators such as Skyscanner. Please ensure you have entered the correct dates.

Note: please ensure that you book rooms which can be fully cancelled (Mad Dogs accepts no responsibility for the expenses relating to non-refundable bookings, for whatever reason). Please ensure that your bookings include breakfast. For days when hotel breakfast is unavailable, this is provided to participants by Mad Dogs.

Some Photos:

Naris Phu Resort:

A range of rooms are available - the top end ones (pictured) are quite luxurious! There's a nice pool, slides, and believe it or not a small but fun go-kart track. Very popular with Malaysian tourists - please get in fast.

The Chevalley Beach Resort

Stunning location, right on the black sand beach. Wide variety of rooms available, please look carefully at all the options. Sea view room is pictured below. If you're lucky, Nun the owner will serenade you with a Beatles song on his grand piano!

Yan Ta Khao

We prefer the River View Resort in Yan Ta Khao, which just costs around 500 baht per night (cash). It's basic but the rooms (stand-alone little dwellings) are en suite and clean. The en suite bathrooms are al-fresco, but are private and the warm Thai weather makes this a fun experience. The new dim sum restaurant next door, right on the river, is a wonderful way for us to start the day.

There is another hotel in the town (Baan Ploen Prukha) with smarter rooms and prices of approx 1600 baht,, however there are very limited rooms and breakfast is not served there, hence we prefer to use River View Resort. You're welcome to stay in either hotel (please advise if you want to stay in Baan Ploen Prukha, which you can book online) but breakfast will be near River View Resort.

Pak Ming Resort

The lovely thing about this place is that it is RIGHT on the beach. It's got a nice pool, and many different grades and types of rooms. The cheapest rooms have rather basic bathrooms, but they have western style loos they are clean. The higher grade rooms are very nice indeed. Book well in advance, please.

Saline Water Hot Springs Resort

There is a huge variety of rooms here, from simple, comfortable rooms, to rooms with private hot springs, and suites with two bedrooms and private hot springs. All rooms include access to the multitude of hot springs pools available at the resort.

Phra Nang Inn

This is by far our favourite of Ao Nang's Hotels, and offers excellent value. It's at a part of the beach where you don't need to cross a main road to get to the beach, yet it's very accessible to the bars, restaurants and massage shops of Ao Nang. Furthermore there's a lovely pool, and it's a pleasure taking breakfast on the beachfront.
